

Term Life Insurance

can provide money for your family if you die or are diagnosed with a terminal illness.

How does it work?

You choose the amount of coverage that's right for you, and you keep coverage for a set period of time, or "term." If you die during that term, the money can help your family pay for basic living expenses, final arrangements, tuition and more.

Why is this coverage so valuable?

If you previously purchased coverage, you can increase it up to $110,000 to meet your growing needs — with no health questions or exams.

Who can get Term Life coverage?

If you are actively at work at least 20 hours per week, you may apply for coverage for:

You:	Choose from $10,000 to $500,000 in $1,000 increments, up to 5 times your earnings. If you previously purchased coverage, you can increase it up to $110,000, your guaranteed issue amount, with no health questions. If you previously declined coverage, you may have to answer some health questions.

What else is included?

A 'Living' Benefit

If you are diagnosed with a terminal illness with less than 12 months to live, you can request 50% of your life insurance benefit (up to $750,000) while you are still living. This amount will be taken out of the death benefit. These benefit payments may adversely affect the recipient's eligibility for Medicaid or other government benefits or entitlement, and may be taxable. Recipients should consult their tax attorney or advisor before utilizing living benefit payments.

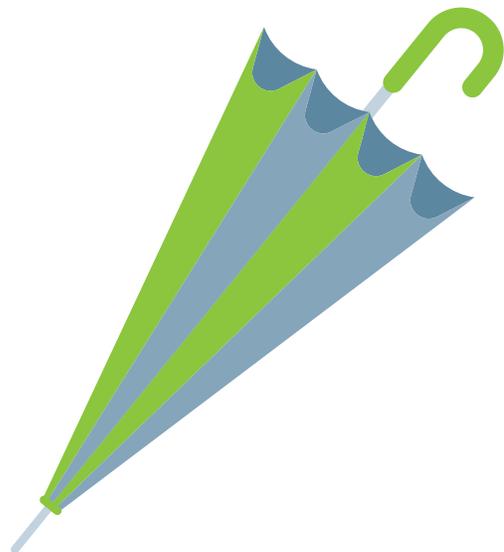

Waiver of premium

Your cost may be waived if you are totally disabled for a period of time.

Portability

You may be able to keep coverage if you leave the company, retire or change the number of hours you work.

Employees or dependents who have a sickness or injury having a material effect on life expectancy at the time their group coverage ends are not eligible for portability.
